A Valentine for Mother Earth

Environmental Services Outreach is holding a contest which will award $50 for school supplies to the class with the best, most creative valentines to Mother Earth made from reused materials! Send class valentines to: 4760 S. Greenfield Road, Gilbert, AZ 85297 or e-mail a picture or scanned copy of the valentines to recycle@gilbertaz.gov.

Reuse Tips:

- Cut out designs from old valentines to create a new card.
- Use old cardboard from food and cereal boxes, Kleenex boxes, file folders, grocery bags, or other packaging.
- Reuse ribbons, wrapping paper, and other decorations from the holidays.
- Glue colorful valentines candy wrappers to cards.
- Construct a valentine masterpiece with scrap fabric, paper, clothing, buttons, magazines, or newspapers.

Deadline: February 28, 2015

Highlight: ASU Sustainability Solutions Festival

The second annual Sustainability Solutions Festival is coming to Phoenix to reimagine how one person, one organization, or one community can impact our future. During Feb. 16-21, families, students, professionals, film buffs, industry leaders, scientists, and lifelong learners can enjoy a week full of events that focus on the wide-ranging themes of sustainability. Gain sustainable business insights from the annual GreenBiz Forum, find out how to grow your own food at the Sustival community celebration, watch the Arctic melt before your eyes at the Chasing Ice film screening, participate in hands-on activities at the Arizona Science Center, and more! Check out the full schedule of events, hope to see you there!
